Re: Fire Department Information

The Maine Fire Protection Services Commission (also referred to as the “Fire Commission”) was established in 2000 by the Maine Legislature to monitor and evaluate the State’s fire services system on a continuing basis. Based upon input from the Maine fire services community, the Fire Commission is tasked with providing recommendations to the Legislature and other state agencies regarding changes in the fire protection services system.

As the Commission conducts its work, it will be essential to have up to date contact information from every department in the state. For some departments, this will be the chief, but in other departments it may be someone designated to provide information. We are asking you to provide the following information on your department and return it to us in the enclosed, self-addressed, postage paid, envelope:

Contact name: _____
Title: _____
Department: _____
Mailing address: _____

Business phone: _____
Other phone number: _____
E-mail: _____
Web site: _____

We would also appreciate the following information regarding the number of firefighters in your department in the following categories:
